

The AARP announced Saturday, March 14, 2020 that its Tax-Aide services will be suspended “until further notice,” because of COVID-19 concerns.

“Tax-Aide is prioritizing the health of taxpayers, our volunteers, and the communities we serve by suspending service until further notice,” Lisa Marsh Ryerson, president of AARP Foundation, said in a statement.

We do not know when or if we will be able to reopen or if the tax filing season will be extended. Even if it is extended, many of our volunteers are snowbirds and we may not be able to staff the site. We are truly sorry for this inconvenience and appreciate your understanding as we all go through this difficult time. The best action at this time would be for you to seek a paid preparer or utilize some of the software products specifically designed for tax preparation.
